News from the MASE Clinics
Eric Palmer, RN, BSN, MSN/MHA

The beginning of the school year is stressful for everyone; teachers, support staff, administrators, and the children. Expectations and responsibilities are ever changing, and can lighten the workload or increase it.

If you are feeling overwhelmed by stress, whether job related or otherwise, take time to come into the clinic to talk to our staff.

Lifestyle changes can often help and having someone to guide you through the steps and increasing your accountability for self-improvement can make a difference and make it easier to manage stressful situations. Stress less and live more; the MASE clinic staff is ready to help!
